Cantor's Corner

Why is this night different from all other nights? This is the central question that we ask each year on Passover. As we move through the Haggadah, our answers unfold, telling the history of our ancestors and why it is important to remember their stories year after year. This year our lives have changed drastically and so we wanted to modernize the four questions found in our Passover service to reflect the realities of living through a Pandemic. The Rabbi challenged a few staff and board members to respond to these updated questions.

Temple Akiba's President, Ira Diamond will answer the first question:

1. On all other nights, we eat bread as well as matzah. On this night, why only Matzah?

In normal times, our community does all kinds of activities. But this year, what has it been like to cut back?

Executive Director Jeffrey Rips will respond to the second question:

2. On all other nights, we eat all kinds of vegetables. On this night, who do we specifically eat bitter herbs?

In normal times, there is a balance with life moments in our synagogue activities. This year, what have we done to create balance in the face of so many difficulties?

Our Director of Education Randee Bishoff will answer the third question:

3. On all other nights, we don't dip our food at all. On this night, we do we dip twice?

In normal times, we take so much for granted. What have we looked more closely at this year?

I was challenged to respond to the fourth question.

4. On all other nights, we eat either casually or with celebration. Why on this night, do we all eat with celebration?

In normal times, our lives are interwoven with regular moments and with celebrations. How have our celebrations changed this year?

Our lives have changed so much over the last year. The way we communicate, travel, eat and play look drastically different from life before the Pandemic. The Pandemic has brought so many challenges and yet there are so many wonderful blessings that we've experienced with those challenges. It has taken a lot of discussions and thinking out of the box to ensure our celebrations continue during this time.

Our calendar is filled with times for celebration and times for gathering together. The Pandemic definitely made it more difficult to celebrate together in person, but it didn't stop us from our celebrations, it didn't stop us from marking the special moments in our lives. Last year the Rabbi and I had made a decision for the first time to not have a Temple Akiba 2nd night seder. This decision was made before Covid began for various reasons. Once the lock-down began and Passover approached, we realized it was vital to celebrate this important holiday together as a community. We were all new to Zoom at that point and it was a big learning curve, but we continued the Temple Akiba tradition and had a beautiful second night Passover Seder together online.

Our celebrations continued throughout the year with every Jewish holiday celebrated together online. Birthdays and other holidays looked very different but were celebrated. For my daughter Indee's birthday we had a Zoom party and a Drive-By Birthday for my daughter Meleena's party.

Yes, our celebrations look different and have felt different. But our calendar is still marked with these opportunities for us to take a moment and live. We may not be able to go out in the same way and see friends in the same way, but we have still taken the time to be together, to celebrate the wonderful moments in life together. A Pandemic will never take that away from us.

Wishing you all a meaningful Passover!

President's Message

Rabbi Shapiro has challenged me to look at one of the questions in our Passover Haggadah and relate it to our current reality. This experience has been insightful. My question is:

*On all other nights, we eat bread as well as matzah. On this night, why only Matzah?
In normal times, our community does all kinds of activities. But this year, what has it been like to cut back?*

During the pandemic we have had to adapt and change the way we do things. Unable to meet in person, we have needed to think out of the box. The challenge was to find a way to stay connected and still continue all our events, programs and schools.

Words like hamish, warm, and welcoming describe our community. Can we maintain our hamish welcoming spirit while we are unable to physically see and embrace each other? Has this at times actually brought us closer together? The answer is yes.

Shabbat services via Zoom and YouTube has in many ways expanded our experience and connection. More people than ever participate at our services and it has allowed many guest artists to participate. The chat communication allows congregants to share names of those needing an extra prayer of healing and to share thoughts. The shmoozing after the service allows our congregants to catch up and wish each other Shabbat Shalom.

Since the pandemic began, our congregational meeting, town hall meetings, committee meetings and Board meetings have been very successful via electronic format. Religious School classes, Sisterhood and Men's Group meetings and events, committee meetings, youth group meetings and much more have been very well attended.

As it states in the question, during Passover we abstain from eating hametz and only eat matzah. What has it been like to cut back? ... although we have had to "abstain" from gathering in person, we have been able to stay in touch via electronic connections, and have grown stronger and closer from the experience.

Just as many of us enjoy eating Matzah throughout the year, we may find combining electronic connections along with physical connections to be even more gratifying.

Happy Passover and Chag Sameach!

Ira Diamond, President

Executive Director's Message

"Why is this night different from all other nights?" has turned into "Why is this year different from all other years?" So much has changed this past year, and yet so much has stayed the same. When the pandemic hit, and everything shut down, there were so many questions – definitely more than the traditional four we ask at the Seder. But this year, there was no story to tell to answer all those questions. Our journey into this year's unknown was like that of the Children of Israel going off into the desert. In both, there were questions, fears, and not knowing what the future held in store.

This year, much like our ancestors traveling through the desert, we have made it through with faith, perseverance, and community. At a time when it would have been easy to just isolate ourselves, while we literally isolated, we have chosen to not only embrace one another, but to seek out ways to reach out, and create community, albeit virtually.

Although much of what Temple Akiba does at the Temple is not currently happening, our ECC continues to gather every day. We have also ensured that our weekly Lunch and Learn and Torah Study, as well as our Coffee with the Clergy continue to happen. As a congregation, we have participated in many Tikun Olam events – so even during this challenging time, we continue to make the world a better place. Our Friday Shabbat services, and our B'nai Mitzvah on Saturday morning have been different, but we still gather as a community to connect, pray, and celebrate.

So what is different this year? On all other years, we gather, in person to celebrate and be as a community. We have learned that on this year, that even if we cannot go to the Temple, Temple Akiba and our community is here for you and our community, more than ever, and that Temple Akiba can come to you – wherever you are. We can participate, albeit differently, and still be part of a bigger community, even while being at home. We have learned that our bond, that our connection, goes beyond the boundaries of the Temple property. Although we wish we could be at the Temple, we have learned, much like the Children of Israel, that we are stronger together, that indeed our Light does shine brighter together – no matter where we are. And I know, as this journey continues, we will indeed end up back in our promised land, at Temple Akiba, celebrating and dancing together like Miriam with her Trimbles.

ECC & RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

On all other nights, we don't dip our food at all. On this night, we do we dip twice?

In normal times, we take so much for granted. What have we looked more closely at this year?

The biggest lesson I learned in 2020 was: don't take anything for granted. This year threw the world and many of us personally into a state of uncertainty. However, I believe this is an opportunity for us to make positive changes in our lives, changes that will help us and those around us. We are less able to understand what the future holds, and this has personal and professional implications leading us in a different direction. We need to adapt so that we can best operate in new conditions. For me, this has meant putting more emphasis on taking care of myself and others, fostering my friendships and connections, and doing things to be as prepared as possible for the future.

Taking care of ourselves

This year taught me that mental health is more important than ever. I believe we all need a certain amount of personal balance to navigate our lives, and it's proven to be even more critical this year. As an educator, balance has always enabled me to be better at my work, be more creative, and work well with others, so I place particular importance on it now and will continue to in 2021.

Taking care of others

We can spend many years getting to know our congregants and families and sometimes don't know them that well or understand the challenges they're going through. We're more disconnected than before. It's an excellent time to check in with people, be it, Temple members, colleagues, neighbors, loved ones, and friends. I hope this year brings a shift in the way we move through the world and what we place value on, with a specific emphasis on kindness. The only way we'll get through hard times is together.

Fostering connections

It's challenging enough in good times to keep our close connections and relationships alive; it requires some effort through time spent together and shared experiences. That's been hard this year as we've had to spend time apart. But I've learned this year that talking to friends over video sparks almost the same amount of joy as seeing them in person. I've reconnected with old friends and seen family that live far away. Educators across the country have been able to support and learn from one another while deepening the connections between new and old colleagues and friends.

2020 has been a doozy, but focusing on taking care of myself has created a stable foundation and helps me be there for others. Reconnecting with old friends and fostering my relationships with colleagues has made me feel connected. Let's make 2021 the year we focus on kindness and look at the world through the lens of others, not just ourselves.

SISTERHOOD

Brighter and Stronger...Together!

As the days start to lengthen we look forward to many holidays and annual celebrations Sisterhood observes. Flyers providing information are included in this Bulletin.

Our Annual Sisterhood Havdalah Service will be held on March 20th. This is an evening celebrating Sisterhood and women, filled with inspiration and music for women and men to enjoy, and also includes an all-inclusive Havdalah celebration. Reservations are required to receive the link to participate, as well as a special surprise.

A really fun night will take place on April 17th when we sponsor Trivia Night! The price of admission buys you the opportunity to participate in 3 different games and the winners will receive Gift Cards for food delivery services. Gather together as a family and make a night of it, or test your own scope of knowledge – you'd be surprised at what your children and you know!

Sisterhood is embarking on an ambitious endeavor to have one of our Temple's Torahs repaired by female scribe Linda Coppelson. This project is truly significant in part because there are so few female scribes at this point in time. The Torah needs re-stitching as well as repair work on the actual text which has become illegible. We anticipate that this will take several months to complete and will be very excited to share with our Temple community the process of what has been done as well as the history of this specific Torah in Temple Akiba's history upon completion.

SAVE THE DATE: May 23rd to share in a comedic program about a culinary history of Jews in America based on the Astrological Signs of the Delicatessen. This is sure to be an entertaining event and details will follow soon.

Please remember that our Gift Shop stocks a full range of items for Passover and all holidays. If you want to make a purchase for any occasion contact Linda Park, mommylinda50@hotmail.com, for an appointment and to see our full inventory.

The Men's Group of Temple Akiba
Is pleased to present a ZOOM conversation with Michael and Ayan Rubin, authors of The Cottoncrest Curse

In this heart-racing thriller, a series of gruesome deaths ignite feuds that burn a path from the cotton fields to the courthouse steps, from the moss-draped bayous of Cajun country to the bordellos of 19th century New Orleans, from the Civil War era to the Civil Rights era and across the Jim Crow decades to the Freedom Marches of the 1960s into the present. At the core of the story is the apparent suicide of an elderly Confederate Colonel who, two decades after the end of the Civil War, is alleged to have viciously slit the throat of his beautiful young wife and then fatally shot himself. Sheriff Raifer Jackson, however, believes that this may be a double homicide, and suspicion falls upon Jake Gold, an itinerant Jewish peddler who trades razor-sharp knives for fur and who has many deep secrets to conceal. Jake must stay one step ahead of the law, as well as the anti-Semitic and racist Knights of the White Camellia, as he interacts with landed gentry, former slaves, crusty white field hands, crafty Cajuns, and free men of color all the while trying to keep one final promise before more lives are lost and he loses the opportunity to clear his name.

THE COTTONCREST CURSE explores the universal question of what sacrifices and compromises, if any, a Jew should make to survive in a harsh and unyielding world. It also examines how much any of us really know about our ancestors and whether our own actions, behavior, and outlook on life might change if the unvarnished truth about our family's lineage was discovered. THE COTTONCREST CURSE is a multigenerational epic that provides a compelling basis for serious discussion about the Jewish immigrant experience and cultural identity.
